October 2, 2007

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the new year of Jewish-Christian Dialogue in the Mobile Area! After much planning, we can assure you that the 2007-08 year will be one of the most exciting in our long history.

It is impossible for us to express our personal satisfaction in being able to announce the arrival of our first speaker for this momentous year. After more than two years of trying to work through her extremely busy schedule, we are excited to welcome Dr. Paula Fredriksen to Mobile. Professor Fredriksen specializes in the social and intellectual history of ancient Christianity from the late Second Temple to the fall of the Western Roman Empire. Besides her books on Augustine and Jesus and Christian Tradition, she has written extensively on conversion, apocalypticism, Paul and his interpreters, and Jewish/Gentile Relations in Late Antiquity.

Dr. Fredriksen is Professor of the Appreciation of Scripture at Boston University. Her credentials are most impressive, having earned her B.A. at Wellesley College, Theology Diploma at Oxford University, and Her Ph.D. from Princeton University. She has taught at Stanford, UC Berkeley, Hebrew University in Jerusalem and the University of Pittsburgh.

This is a rare and unique opportunity to hear a Jewish Professor of Christian Studies and we hope you will mark your calendars so that you will not miss this extraordinary event.

DATE: Wed. Oct. 24, 2007
